The Iron Horse has been here. And it has met all expectations and pleased a large number of the patrons of the COLONIAL Theatre who came for miles to see this great scenic production. The story is built around the building of the first transcontinental railroad in the late 60's and is beautifully pictured. The portrayal is remarkably true to the time in which the story is cast, even the original locomotives being used. One place where it was impossible, however, to play up to the "old timers" was when they gave a close-up of a herd of Texas cattle on the "trail," from Texas to Montana in the 60's and instead of the historic "longhorn" of that day a herd of grade Herefords of 1925 vintage flashed into view. But even that is not enough to mar the historic setting of the play and one goes away from it rejoicing with the hero in the winning of the girl, satisfied because the villain got what was coming to him and glad the road was built. The management of the Colonial is to be congratulated on bringing such a high class attraction to Hondo.

Lee Brother's Show gave two performances here Thursday, in the afternoon and at night. Lee Brother's is a three ring circus and while not so large either in its personnel or in the number of animals as some that have visited Hondo its trained animal exhibit surpassed any. The "lion and the lamb were made to lie down together" by their animal trainer. And every thing from the elephants to a diminutive pig performed remarkable stunts.

DIED.

Mrs. Theresa Christilles, nee Schmitt, widow of Mr. Joseph Christilles who preceded her in death about ten years ago, died at the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Ribb, of San Antonio, on Friday morning, November 27th. The corpse was brought to Castroville, her old home, and was laid to rest at St. Louis Cemetery, Sunday afternoon. Rev. Father Heckman performed the last sad rites. Deceased was a sister of our fellow townsman, Mr. F. X. Schmitt. She leaves a large number of near and dear relatives to mourn her loss. A large number of mourning relatives and friends escorted the mortal remains to its last resting place. May she rest in peace.

Mrs. Frank Southerland, an aged colored woman and a former public school teacher, died at her home about one mile east of town on Friday morning, November 27th, and was buried Saturday afternoon. Interment was made at the farm. She leaves her husband, several children, and, we presume, other near relatives to mourn her loss.

ing club members: Mesdames, A. J. Finger, A. J. Boog, W. E. Albrecht, M. A. Zinsmeyer, H. Muennink, W. O. Rothe and Miss Cora Finger. The guests were Mrs. Rely Carle and Mrs. John Zinsmeyer. The next meeting will be on December 8, at the home of Mrs. M. A. Zinsmeyer with Mrs. Zinsmeyer and Mrs. H. Muennink as hostesses. All members are urged to be present.

MRS. G. SAUTER DEAD.

Holy Cross parish lost its oldest member in the person of Mrs. Gertrude Sauter who died on November 14, and was buried on the feast of St. Gertrude, the following day. Solemn High Mass of Requiem was celebrated by her pastor, the Very Rev. Dean F. Mass, assisted by the Rev. Michel, O. M. I. and the Rev. De Anta, O. M. I. A very large assembly of relatives and friends accompanied the body of this venerable old lady to its last resting place.

Deceased was born in Westphalia, Germany, on December 6, 1832. She came to this country with Castro's Colony, arriving at Castroville in 1846, shortly afterwards settling at D'Hanis where she spent the rest of her life. In 1851 she was married to Mr. Nicholas Ney. This marriage was blessed with one daughter. Mr. Ney died in 1853. In 1854, Mrs. Ney was married to Mr. Jacob Sauter, who died twenty-eight years ago. This marriage was blessed with two sons and ten daughters. Deceased endured all the privations of a pioneer's life, including four wars and Indian raids. Besides her ten surviving children, she also leaves forty-three grand-children, fifty-seven great-grand-children, and five great-great-grand-children. R. I. P.—Southern Messenger.

FIVE NEW WELLS FOR INA FIELD IN MEDINA COUNTY.

Five new tests will soon be drilling in Medina County. Gibson Oil Corporation has started to drill its No. 2 Viola Wilson in Medina County 300 feet south of the Eastham & Tarver No. 1 Viola Wilson. A rig has moved in on the northwest corner of survey 528 on the Nixon farm. Snyder is assembling Derrick and rig material on survey No. 13, a couple of miles south of the Ina wells. Witherspoon is putting up a derrick and assembling rig on the Nixon farm west and a little south of the Eastham & Tarver lease and Detert & Olmstead are arranging to drill north of the Eastham & Tarver well.

There is every indication that Medina County will soon have enough rigs running in the Ina field to make it important enough for a pipeline and negotiations are under way to that end at this time. Ina oil company has its No. 3 Schmidt on the east side of the Hondo river on the pump. It was washed thoroughly and is still pumping considerable sand like all the wells have done at first but gives every indication of being as good as the Eastham & Tarver well on the west side of the river.

The well on survey 528 is about four miles southwest of the discovery well of the Ina field but with the exception of this and the well on the Jay E. Adams farm in survey 13 which is a couple of miles south the drilling is all in close to the producing wells.

The Lampasas Bisbee (Medina Oil Company) which drilled on the Hagelin farm five miles or so north-east of the field has rigged up on the Taylor farm and has started to drill.

Southwest of the Eastham & Tarver well about a half mile Arnett Oil Company is working with its Nixon No. 2 which it is attempting to drill deeper. An attempt was made to make a core but the foundation was so hard that it burnt the core barrel. The drill tools are being run back into the hole and the well will be drilled till the formation softens enough to permit of taking a core. It is believed that under the rock another oil sand will be encountered.—Sunday's Express.

AN ANCIENT TOAST.
FROM THE HUAJILLO LEAF.
It was a grand night in the old chivalric time, the wine circling around the board in a noble hall and the sculptured walls rang with sentiment and song. The lady of each knightly heart was pledged by name, and many a syllable significant of loveliness had been uttered, until it came to St. Leon's turn, when lifting the sparkling cup on high
"I drink to one," he said,
"Whose image never may depart,
Deep-graven on a grateful heart,
Till memory is dead."
"To one whose love for me shall last
When lighter passions shall have passed,
So holy 'tis, and true;
To one whose love hath longer dwelt,
More deeply fixed, more keenly felt,
Than any pledged by you!"
Each guest upstarted at the word,
And laid a hand upon his sword
With fiery, flashing eye;
And Stanley said: "We crave the name,
Proud knight, of this most peerless dame,
Whose love you count so high."
St. Leon paused, as if he would
Not breathe her name in careless mood
Thus lightly to another,
Then bent his noble head, as tho'
To give that name the reverence due,
And gently said, "My Mother!"
THE BEST.
What's the best thing in the world?
A rose, by the dew impaled;
Sweet south-wind that means no rain;
Truth, not cruel to a friend,
Beauty, not self-decked and curled
Till its pride is over-plain;
Light, that never makes you wink,
Memory, that gives no pain;
Love, when, so, you're loved again.
What's the best thing in the world?
Something out of it, I think.

"BUTCHERING DAYS AND WAYS ON THE FARM."
By Jack L. Baker.
"To every thing there is a season, and a time to every purpose under the Heaven," so said the preacher, and the folks down on the farm are convinced that the best time to butcher is some clear, crisp cool day in the early winter. Butchering time down on the farm is almost as busy as the harvesting season; nevertheless, most of us like to have all the work done when the holiday festivities begin; and before winter really sets in. As two or three families must trade work it is usually a gala day down on the farm. The day must be selected and the others notified in advance, so that everyone can prepare. This is easily accomplished with the aid of the telephone, as most farmers are all on a party line.
The real work begins on the day preceding the one chosen as butchering day, as lard cans and jars, buckets and tubs of most every description must be scrubbed and scalded; for there never are enough receptacles when everyone gets busy. The grinders and presses are made ready, the large iron kettles hung, and plenty of dry wood piled in the wood shed. Mother is very busy, also, preparing for tomorrow's feast, for the dinner is by no means the least important event of the day. Father sets the alarm for 4 o'clock, which seems to come about the middle of the night, however, he is ready for it, and if the weather seems favorable, he adds his call to that of the clock.
The elder boys make short work of the chores, and soon the large kettles are filled with water and a big fire is crackling and roaring under them. Before it is scarcely day the neighbor men arrive. The younger men do the shooting, and if one makes a hog squeal he is considered a poor shot. The hogs are then scalded, scraped clean, and hung.
In the meantime, the women and babies under school age have arrived; little John Henry, who has tried in vain to find an excuse for staying at home, has finally started off to school, and the work is going at full blast.
The women's work is divided, as some are to help with the dinner and others with the butchering. As each hog is opened his "innards" are carried to the women butchers, who separate the fat or leaf lard from the waste material, and clean the casings for the sausage. This work requires skill and when there are several hogs it is quite a task.
Each man also has his special work; for the hog must be cut up, and the joints trimmed, lard and sausage meat cut, heads and feet cleaned, and lard cooked. If there is a kettle of lard cooking, sausage ground, and casing all ready by noon, the work is going fast.
Mother has dinner ready early because everyone breakfasted early. There is a long snowy cover on the table, at least two kinds of meat, vegetables of three or four different kind. Jellies, butters, and just oodles of pies and cakes and dessert with whipped cream, and everything that goes with a regular country company dinner, and everybody does it full justice.
After dinner, there is generally an argument as to who shall mix the sausage, which is seasoned and worked together in a huge tub or kettle, the victim "wading in" to his elbows. Next comes the stuffing, which causes much excitement among the little folks, then the head meat is put through the grinder and made ready for mince meat and headcheese.
When the last lard comes off, a little grease is left in the kettle, some salt added, and a quart of shelled pop corn poured in. A few turns of the lard paddle and a big kettle of the finest popped corn ever eaten is ready to be passed around.
Now we are all through except putting away the meat. Some prefer it "sugar cured" with salt, pepper and brown sugar rubbed in well and sewed up in muslin cloth; some paint it with "liquid smoke" which they purchase at the drug store, while others prefer the old fashioned way, salting it down in barrels, probably covering it latter with brine, still latter hanging and smoking. With in the next few days the sausage is smoked or fried down, spareribs cold packed, mince meat and some liver and probably some tenderloin canned.
Winter days are short and the afternoon is soon gone, but if there is plenty of help and everything goes well, the work is over early. All are tired and greasy, but as each family leaves with its portion of backbone, spareribs, sausage and headcheese (for that is the custom down on the farm) everyone is happy, and declares that a good time was had by all. That is the magic and charm of living down on the farm.
Public instruction should be the first object of government.—Napoleon.

Nature will then throw off or dispel the worms, and the child will be in perfect health. Pleasant to take. 75c per bottle.

FORGIVE AND FORGET.
When a brother goes wrong and is lost in the throng,
And is shunned by the good of the town,
Just lend him a hand and help him to stand,
Be kind to a man when he's down.
Forgive and forget, for there's good in him yet.
Tho he drinks his sorrows to drown;
Just lend him a hand and help him to stand,
Be kind to a man when he's down.
Has he lost friends and home, a stranger to roam
And is met by rebuffs and a frown?
Oh, come to his aid and be not afraid;
Be kind to a man when he's down.
Forgive and forget, for there's good in him yet;
And a bright star will shine in your crown,
For the hand you have lent and the time you have spent;
Being kind to a man when he's down.

A Hotel with 17,600 Rooms
If all the people who drink HAND BLEND COFFEE this morning were to make reservations at the Pennsylvania, the world's largest hotel, New York, City, it would require a structure 8 times its present size.
ONLY through merit can such widespread approval be won.
With H and H it is the blend.
In addition to the finest coffee beans imported from the greatest coffee fields of the world, the blend of H and H is such as to create an impression you will never forget.
The flavor is rich—yet fragrant.
It is unusual to the extent of compelling you to praise H and H after the first taste. You may have used many other blends.
With your first cup you will realize you have found the coffee intended for you. It will be but a matter of days until you adopt the custom of thousands of others who enjoy two wholesome cups instead of one.
To facilitate your test of H and H, it is packed in 14-pound sealed tins, which will buy, for the same of convenience, larger sizes, one and three-pound containers. H and H will tell you!
The roast it—others praise!
At your grocers!

(By E. L. Derrough)

Annual crop of manure of the States amounts to $2,225,700. This is lost of careless handling. It is lost of the most valuable one of the farm. It is worth far more than it is wasted in this manner.

These figures are based on the slow decomposition of the organic matter contained. The lasting effect which gives it a higher value than stored manure, has been shown by an experiment at Rothamsted. Two plots were taken. One of the plots was manured annually for a period of twenty years. Then the manure was discontinued for a period of twenty years. At the close of the experiment, production on the manured plot was higher than it was at the beginning of the manuring. It was nearly double. The plot which had no manure applied. But after all the realization of the loss incurred through the loss of this important product.

The following were present: Mesdames Laura Welhausen, H. E. Taylor, C. J. Schuehle, Oscar Schuehle, Earl Starnes, F. H. Schweers, Alice Reinhart, Arthur Rothe, W. O. Rothe, Garland Martin, Minke Muennink, L. E. Heath, Jack Forgason, Fletcher Davis, Ed. Cameron, F. S. Cockrell, Earl Boon, Horace Bradley, P. P. Brewster, W. G. Stearnes, Misses Lucille de Montel, Lorraine Heath, Elizabeth Fly and the hostesses.

The club will meet again next week, (December 10th) and the hostesses will be Mrs. P. P. Brewster, Mrs. Ed. Cameron and Mrs. F. S. Cockrell.

LADIES' FORTY-TWO CLUB.

Mrs. L. J. Brucks and Misses Bess and Lillian Brucks entertained the Forty-two Club Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Minke Muennink held high score, having won twelve games out of the sixteen played. Low score four games, went to Mrs. P. P. Brewster.

After the games the guests were taken to "Parker's" where the hostesses served delicious date loaf with whipped cream, sandwiches and hot tea. Pot plants adorned the centers of the tables and yellow chrysanthemums were the favors.

IN LOVING REMEMBRANCE OF WILLIAM RAY SCHUEHLE.

Precious William, thou hast left us,
Yes, left us forevermore,
But we will find him with the angels
On that bright and golden shore.

Oh! that dear one; how we loved him,
Oh! how hard to give him up;
But an angel came down from him,
And removed him from the flock.

Lonely the house and sad the hours,
Since dear William has gone,
But a brighter home than ours
Is now little William's home.

Last night, happy and smiling;
Now to see him no more,
For he has passed over the river
Rests on the distant shore.

He always seemed to be cheerful,
Always a pleasant smile;
In Heaven I know I'll meet him,
After a little while.

Every one seems to miss him;
Everyone to be sad.
Vacant is his little chair,
Empty is his little bed.

I wonder when my life is ended
If friends will feel the same
As they do towards William
And never forget him again.

AMONG THE NIMRODS.

Dr. O. B. Taylor probably holds the record on time limit for bagging deer. He went out for a hunt one day last week and just 45 minutes after leaving home he returned with a four-prong buck.

To Harry Crouch go the honors for bagging the largest buck so far this season, he having returned from a hunt yesterday evening bringing with him a handsome specimen of the "meek-eyed" deer, a mighty 10-prong buck. Mr. Crouch is among the few who have gotten their limit this season.

Robert Schroeder is another one of the lucky hunters. Robert brought down a four-prong buck Sunday morning.

There are probably others who have killed deer this season of which we have not been informed.

J. H. HENDERSON DEAD.

J. H. Henderson, who suffered a stroke of paralysis some two years ago and had been partially paralyzed since, suffered another stroke Sunday and lived only a few hours, dying Monday morning, November 30, 1925.

He was buried Tuesday afternoon under the auspices of the Methodist church of which he was a member and interment was made in the Woodman cemetery.

All who knew John Henderson in life will mourn his passing, for he was a good man, peaceable, law-abiding and friendly to all.

We are promised a more fitting tribute than this for publication next week.

POSTED.

The Lee Ward and the Lucian Ward pastures are posted according to law and all hunting and trespassing is forbidden.

P. S. WARD,
LUCIAN WARD.

From The Devine News.

NEW POSTMASTER TAKES CHARGE DEVINE OFFICE.

On December 1st, Arnold Bendele, the newly appointed temporary postmaster, took charge of the Devine Post Office, with Miss Jean Teel, as his deputy, and also Mr. J. A. Aldridge, the old postmaster, who has agreed to remain in the office until the new regime is fully installed and acquainted with the office. Mr. Bendele spent last week over at Hondo getting first hand information. He met the customers Tuesday with a smile and bids fair to make a success. When asked if he had any thing to say through the paper he said: "I am going to do my best to give good service; of course I will not know as much about it as an old hand, and will keep Mr. Aldridge until we learn. I expect to give service whether I get much out of it at first or not." Mr. Bendele is the youngest postmaster Devine ever had, or we suppose any other Third Class post office in this part of the state; but he is a steady, quiet young man, reared in the country on a farm, and we predict that he will make Devine a good postmaster. Miss Jean Teel is a very popular young lady and with her acquaintance in office work will soon be very efficient as an assistant, no doubt.

KANSAS CONCERN SHIPS IN NEW RIG OIL TEST.

Noticing a new car of well casing, Friday morning, we strolled about the depot for information, and was introduced by Mr. Barlow, a local driller, to Mr. W. H. Snyder, who had trucks then, arriving to carry out the casing. He informed us that his company was Messrs. Anderson & Holder, of El Dorado, Kansas, and that they had a good size lease on the east side of the Hondo, including parts of the J. E. Adams ranch, and their first location is close to the McBride well, which was a light producer; and not far from the Ina field and the good well reported last week. The rig is to be a cable rig now being trucked from the Tilden field. Mr. Snyder said they hoped to finish their first well by January 1. It would take right good luck to do this, however. We learned Thanksgiving day of three more tests that are in prospect, though our informant was not at liberty to give names. These tests are on lands between the Ina and Somerset. It is almost an insured proposition that test wells will finally fill in all the way between the Ina and Somerset, via the Chicon Lake and Christilles wells.

MARRIED ON THANKSGIVING DAY HERE.

Mr. Raymond Blackburn and Miss Ara Owen of the Biry community, motored to Devine, early Thanksgiving Day, November 26th, 1925, and to the home of Editor W. L. DuBose, where they were united in Marriage, leaving immediately in their car for San Antonio and San Marcos, where they will spend a few days with relatives and friends, after which they will be at home on the Blackburn farm, the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Blackburn, will move to Hondo, leaving the farm in charge of Raymond, the youngest child. It may here be recalled that the groom's parents, were the first couple the editor ever joined in marriage, this was in Hondo City, in March, 1893, thirty-three years ago. The bride is the lovely daughter of Mrs. W. Owen, a very sensible, charming young woman, well suited for a young farmer's wife. The News joins their many friends in wishing them success and happiness, in their journey together through life.
